SAYS CHRIST IS ONLY HOPE

SNODGRASS PREACHES HIS FAREWELL SERMON.

IS GREATEST TEACHER

Always Ready To Point Out Truth, Christian Church Minister Says—To Be Evangelist.

A testimony of undying faith in Jesus Christ was given last night by the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, pastor of the First Christian Church, in his farewell sermon at a union meeting of all the Protestants churches in Maryville and all Christian churches throughout Nodaway County. "What Think Ye of the Christ?" was the subject of the farewell message.

The Rev. R. E. Snodgrass has been pastor of the First Christian Church here for the last six and a half years. He recently resigned to enter evangelistic work. The successor to the Reverend Mr. Snodgrass has not yet been chosen but a committee is at work in choosing a new pastor.

In his sermon last night, the Christian Church minister gave a number of reasons for his belief in Christ. First, he believes, Jesus Christ was born of the virgin and said he had never been able to give up his belief in the virgin birth in spite of modernistic tendencies.

"If Christ were able to raise the dead and perform the miracles, it would have been easy for him to be born of the virgin," Mr. Snodgrass said.

"Jesus is the way, the truth and the light," the minister continued. "His is the broad way. It is not limited to any definite field. He is the very embodiment of truth, the truth that is the same today as tomorrow."

World's Greatest Teacher.

The minister said that Jesus Christ was the world's greatest teacher, and he practiced exactly what he taught.

"His words were caught by the winds of the centuries and wafted down through the academic world. The greatest masterpieces of literature have recognized Jesus Christ, his work and influence. He spoke without effort and without hesitation. He was always ready, both in private and public. He never expressed a doubt, and on any question he was always ready to give an answer.

His Words Were Simple.

"No one needs a dictionary to read the sermons of Jesus Christ. Even the primer can read the Sermon on the Mount understandingly. Yet every word sparkles like a gem and every sentence dazzles like a cabinet filled with diamonds. His words are full of inspiration. How are we to account for all of this? Not because of his long life.

"Socrates was three score and ten when he drank the fatal poison and Plato was eleven years older, but Jesus was only thirty-three when they nailed Him to the cross. It cannot be accounted for because of superior advantages. Other great teachers had many opportunities. They traversed the world in search of the great seers from whom they might get instruction, but Jesus had no such chance. He had no schools in his land and he would have been too busy at the carpenters bench to have attended them. It can only be accounted for because he is God incarnate. He is the Son of God, God come in the flesh. Surely Renan was right, men will no longer distinguish between Christ and God. He has set more pens in motion, furnished themes for more sermons, orations, discussions than all the armies of the world in ancient and modern times. He has built a pyramid of knowledge to which there has not been an addition in two thousand years.

"I want to challenge your thinking tonight. The trouble with men's faith these days is that they are not willing to think. No man can think seriously along these lines and remain skeptical. The giant minds of the world have been arrayed on the side of Christianity. And so will it be with all if a thorough and prayerful study is made of these great things."

A large crowd attended all services yesterday. The Men's Bible Class, which Mr. Snodgrass organized early in his ministry here, presented him with a large rocking chair as a token of appreciation.

A dinner was held at the College park at noon and a great many were present. The building was filled for the closing service last night, many attending from over the county.

LARGE CROWD AT DEDICATION

REMODELED BARNARD CHURCH IS FORMALLY OPENED.

All Of Money Has Been Raised—Former Pastor Delivers Dedicatory Sermon.

The remodeled Christian Church building at Barnard was dedicated yesterday and a large crowd was present at the services.

The services were started at 9:45 o'clock yesterday morning with the regular Sunday school. The song service was led by Mrs. R. W. Bridges and the prayer response by James T. Gorsuch. One hundred and eighty-nine persons were present at the Sunday school. The morning church services were started at 11 o'clock, and the following numbers were given:

A basket dinner was held at noon and the dedicatory services followed. The Rev. J. Arthur Dillinger, pastor of the Wyatt Park Christian Church at St. Joseph and former pastor of the Barnard Church, preached the sermon in the afternoon. The following program was given at the afternoon service:

Song—"I Love To Tell The Story."

Dedication vows, led by the Rev. C. E. Hagee, pastor of the Barnard Christian Church.

Prayer and benediction.

The remodeling work was done at a cost of about $1,000 and all of the money has been raised. The church is now free from debt.

In his dedicatory sermon, the Reverend Mr. Dillinger said in part:

"We are met here today to dedicate anew this house of worship. This temple is a symbol of your devotion. It is a monument to your estimate of what religion means to you. The true glory of the house of God is not in the bricks, not in the mortor, not in the arches nor spans, but in the kind of souls it shelters. A true home is not found in the grandeur of the house, not in the richness of the furnishings nor in the number of automobiles owned. No, No. The only question that need be asked is, "Does love live here?" If the answer is, "Yes," we may pass on and know that the glory of that home is Divine. The glory of Christ was not in the lines of his face, not in his personality, his glory was Soul glory.

"Jesus was not in truth the founder of the church, he was the finder of the church. The spirit of the church has always existed. The house of hope, the altar of prayer belongs to our oldest institutions. In the church of his fathers Jesus was born, in it he lived, in it he died. He glorified it with his life. Its enrichments he handed down. The church is eternal.

Bell Held for Death Of Orchestra Member

Charles Bell, Who Has Played for Dances Here, Admits That He Shot Ed Farrer.

Charles Bell, negro, leader of the Bell's Syncopating orchestra, that has played for dances at Maryville on several occasions, is being held at St. Joseph for the death of another negro, Ed Farrer, one of the members of his orchestra.

It is claimed and admitted by Bell that Farrer's death resulted from a shooting scrape Saturday night at St. Joseph when Bell called for Farrer at his home to take him to the Highland Golf Club where they were going to play for a dance. It is alleged that Farrer was drunk and Bell discharged him from the orchestra, when Farrer struck him and then made a motion to draw a gun. Bell reached in his car, extracted a revolver and shot Farrer, the latter succumbing to the wounds at a hospital that evening.

SUES STATE COMMITTEE

ELLISON AND 27 OTHERS ARE NAMED AS DEFENDANTS.

BROUGHT BY SHEPHERD

Says Democratic Committee Owes Him $1,698.02—All Bills to Be Taken Care of When Money Raised.

Chillicothe, Mo., Aug. 31.—J. L. Shepherd of Milan, former secretary of the Democratic state committee, has filed suit in the Circuit court here against George R. Ellison of Maryville and twenty-seven others, members of the Democratic state central committee for the years 1919 and 1920, to enforce payment of $1,698.02 which he alleges the committee owes him for his services as secretary.

Of this amount, Shepherd's petition alleges $329.02 is money which he paid out of his own pocket for maintaining quarters at the Missouri State Fair at Sedalia during the month of August, 1919. The balance represents his expenses, $200 a month, during the period he was secretary.

Shepherd asserts in his bill t hat he never asked the Democrats of Missouri or the Democratic State Committee to pay him any salary or any compensation for his services as secretary, that he gladly donated his services to the Democrats of Missouri but that the money for which he asks judgment is money he paid out of his own pocket and which he advanced to Democrats on the contract and agreement between Shepherd and the state committee.

In commenting on this suit, George R. Ellison called attention this afternoon to a campaign inaugurated last spring to raise between $40,000 and $45,000 in Missouri to pay off the debts of the organization and for a surplus. About half of the money was to be used in paying off indebtedness. Of this amount, $16,000 was to be paid to the Curran Printing Co. of St. Louis on which suit had been brought against the Democratic committee elected in August, 1920. Mr. Ellison was not a member of this committee. The other $4,000, Mr. Ellison said, was to be used in paying off the other party indebtedness which Shepherd's bill is a part. The remainder of the $45,000 fund is to be used in organization work, Mr. Ellison continued.

The quota for the Fourth district was $3,500 of which $2,500 is to be raised in Buchanan County, $350 in Nodaway, $250 in Platte, $150 each in Atchison and Andrew and $100 in Holt. Nodaway County has already raised $457, which is $107 more than its part. Atchison County has raised its $150 and Andrew County has about two-thirds of its portion raised. With the possible exception of Holt, the other counties are sure to raise their part of the fund.

The success of this movement up to date guarantees that all just party indebtedness will be paid, Mr. Ellison said.

The Shepherd bill was called to the attention of the members of the state committee at a meeting in St. Louis on June 29 and referred to the auditing and executive committees. Part of it is admitted to be just, Mr. Ellison said, and some parts are disputed. As soon as further progress has been made raising the $45,000 fund, all of these bills will either be taken care of or contested as the facts may warrant.

Garvey Expected To Be Ready for Trial

Kansas City, Aug. 31.—After three years' delay it appears likely that Roy B. Garvey, charged with the murder of his father, James W. Garvey, actually will go to trial when his case is called September 14 in the criminal division of the circuit court here. Garvey shot and killed his father, a wealthy lumber insurance broker, September 6, 1922 in the latter's office. Numerous continuances dragged the case through court three years without Garvey being brought to trial.

Mrs. Frank B. Dinsmore and daughter, Helen Marjorie, returned Sunday morning from a short visit with relatives in Pickering and Hopkins.

The Weather

Fair tonight and probably Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

IT REDUCES PRICES

Some people have always argued that advertising adds to the cost of goods, and that the business house that eliminated this form of expense could afford to sell cheaper.

It is interesting to think what would hapen if all at once firms stopped advertising. The result would be that the enterprising and successful store, the one that gets a good trade because it serves the public efficiently, would be unable to hold its position.

A store of that kind could not show enterprise in attracting the public, because the public would not know what it was doing. People would buy in a haphazard way, largely of the stores that happened to be nearest to them. If the enterprising store attempted to handle some big lot at low prices, the public would not know that the goods were there, and the sale would not be a success. This would discourage a man from special attempts to serve the public, and he would run along in a routine way.

The tendency would be for a lot of small stores to spring up, and get the trade away from the enterprising ones that now advertise freely. The public would not know that one store was better than another, and a dealer could charge high prices and the customers would not have the store advertising by which they could tell what prices should be.

Merchants would find that it did not pay to hold special sales as the public would not notice them much if they were held. The constant stream of trade that has been flowing through enterprising stores would dwindle. When a store sees its volume of trade fall off, the charge per article for retail distribution has to be increased. The cost of distributing stuff could be expected to double under such a system, and there would be a lack of the special opportunities by which the thrifty buyer now saves money.

BROADWAY VS. MAIN STREET.

The battle between "Main Street" and "Broadway" still wages. It is free from casualties, but like all others it benefits neither belligerent.

E. W. Howe takes up the cudgel in defense of the rural communities in this manner: "Literary experts are apparently proving that villages such as Sinclair Lewis wrote about in "Main Street" are as old as the human race. Now some one should write a book called "Broadway" and show that cities have always been centers of ignorance, destitution, crime: a little more culture in spots, but a general average below "Main Street."

Howe lives on "Main Street," so is prejudiced in favor of "Main Street." Sinclair Lewis, H. L. Mencken, George Bernard Shaw and the other spokesmen for the urbanites live on "Broadway," so they are prejudiced in favor of "Broadway."

Are there no true cosmopolitans in this world who can see some good and some bad in both city and country? An armistice will be declared in this quarrel between the "country rube" and the "city boob" when there are enough people who have traveled sufficiently and are intelligent enough to know that poverty, crime, intolerance and ignorance are found wherever there are human beings.

Some people go to night schools to practice reading and some go to the movies.

It is now feared that bobbing may cause baldness. It is certain to make the hair shorter, at any rate.

"Martial vacation" is euphonious term for whichever it be, whether a temporary or permanent separation.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER
By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—Big navy men are getting ready to put up a stiff fight, not only against the cut President Coolidge is understood to want, in the next appropriation for warship building, but in favor of a much more liberal allowance than the present one.

Their argument is that the armament limitation agreement which resulted from the international conference called by President Harding to put a stop to the race for naval supremacy didn't, in reality, stop it, but simply changed its form. The United States, it is contended, has assumed that the race was stopped completely, but England and Japan haven't, and consequently this country will be completely outclassed as a sea power soon, at the present rate.

What the Harding conference did was to set a limit on capital ships, but no limit whatever was placed up on cruisers up to 10,000 tons. A 10,000-ton cruiser is a small affair compared with a 30,000-ton battleship, but leaving battleships out of consideration, the former is a decidedly formidable craft.

And this is the type of vessel which the English and Japanese are now concentrating upon building. The upshot presently will be, the big navy folk predict, that while the United States may remain, at least theoretically, upon a battleship equality with England and somewhat Japan's superior, she will be relatively so weak in cruisers as to be, net, at a hopeless disadvantage.

To be sure, President Coolidge plans to call another conference, to limit cruiser-building, but the big navy group doesn't believe there is the remotest possibility England and Japan will agree to this.

By just one method, the big navyites think, does America stand some chance of bringing the English and Japanese to terms—by setting the English and Japanese so hot a cruiser-building pace that they can't keep up with it. Rather than be outbuilt, or strained beyond their powers of financial endurance by America's greater resources, it's foreseen that the two other peoples would be willing to call a halt all 'round, at some reasonable figure.

County And City Join Ideally To Make Maryville Progressive Center

Recently the director of the Kansas City Weekly Journal, made a visit to Maryville, and he gives his impressions as follows in the Sunday's edition of the Kansas City Journal-Post.

Ever see a town that looked like a sure enough big city, but really wasn't so big, after all, so far as census figures go?

Such a town is Maryville, Nodaway county, Mo.—away up in the northwest corner of the state next to Iowa, where the tall corn towers and then flops across the boundary line as if wholly oblivious to state's rights.

If the traveler arriving in Maryville could land from airplane into the middle of the business district, he might easily fancy himself in a town of anywhere from 15,000 to 20,000. And yet, even the most optimistic Maryville booster hardly would attempt cataloguing his town above the 6,000 class.

"Oh, I hardly know, but something near 5,000."

Census Figures Below 5,000.

That is the average answer from the average Maryvilleite when asked how many inhabitants the town has. That estimate, too, is backed up by the last federal census which lists Maryville as having a population slightly less than 5,000. Federal statistics are slow, however, and Maryville is rather fast in matters of progress, and figures that were compiled last census-taking time hardly would match the results of intervening development.

But, enough as to opopulation figures. It isn't size that makes Maryville of outstanding interest among county seat towns of the Middle West.

Maryville is unique because it is the town that just naturally had to be. Fertility of Nodaway County soil and the tillage of that soil by farmers who actually farm, brought about spontaneous demand for "a tradin' pint," as the grizzled trail blazers of the 1850 period probably expressed it. So, since there had to be a "tradin' pint" somewhere to serve as mart for the rich, although yet undeveloped agricultural surroundings, Maryville spontaneously came into being away back yonder before General Grant and General Lee became involved in their heetic argument.

Farming methods back in the 50s and 60s—yes, even the 80s and later—were crude as compared with modern system in vogue today, but even then Nodaway County held high rank in farm production, as compared with other counties of Missouri, and that rank still is maintained.

Built by Farmers.

It is, therefore, well within boundaries of fact to chronicle Maryville as a town built by farmers, for farmers. Literally the town is as much a product of the soil as are the giant corn stalks or the luxuriant wheat, oats and other grains that grow around it. And how cleverly the farmers builded is revealed in the fact that Maryville is one of the biggest little towns in the whole United States.

Banks, plethoric of vault; mercantile establishments of metropolitan appearance; residences that would fit into the scenery of Kansas City's most aristocratic home section; churches that attest aggressive moral tone; a federal building commodious enough to prove that Congress in Washington knows that Maryville is on the map; an Elks club building of more than ordinary architecture and furnishings; a Chamber of Commerce that doesn't require an alarm clock to awaken it, and, in the midst of this outgrowth of pastoral supremacy, a real, ritified country club where members in links toggery, talk about "approach cuts," "mashie niblicks," "holes in one" and so on.

Proud of Schools.

Next to the agricultural supremacy of the adjacent country which includes first rank in the production of corn and other grain staples, as well as of live stock, Maryville is proud of its schools, notable among which is the State Teachers' College and a high school that would befit a city many times larger.

So this is Maryville—remarkable blending of city and country.

For many years, however, Maryville moved along in bucolic contentment, never caring a rap about city fixin's. Always a good town, as county seat towns are appraised, always strong on banks and churches and schools, the Maryville of old—when such men as Albert Moorehouse, called from the soil of Nodaway County to serve as governor of Missouri; Lafe Dawson, who was sent by Grover Cleveland to Alaska as territorial governor; Nat Sisson, financier, whose word was good as a government bond, met and chatted around courthouse square—wasn't the Maryville of today.

That was before Maryville had grown away from the time-honored "public square"—Before Maryville had tossed its hickory shirt and overalls aside for town toggery.

Brisk Sale for Collars.

Of course Maryville still retains its farm raiment and always will because there are chores to do now as in yesteryears and Maryville, be it remembered, is a town made by farmers for farmers. But, the farm toggery is held somewhat in the background, while haberdashers up and down Main street find brisk sale for white collars.

After Maryville had waxed rich from farming, there came about a sentiment for civic progress that led to real city building effort. And, along came a bright, clean-cut, forward-marching young fellow from Wisconsin by way of Idaho, who said he would like to take charge of Maryville's Chamber of Commerce as secretary.

It was something of an innovation. Maryville had always been strong for native son management of the town's affairs. But, when in stating his qualifications the young man from Wisconsin by way of Idaho announced himself a graduate of Wisconsin's Agricultural college and modestly admitted that he held a bachelor of agricultural science degree, Nodaway County's regard for agriculture galvanized into action and the young man got the job as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and they do say in and around Maryville that he's a good one, too.

His name is D. A. Caldwell.

After leaving Wisconsin university with his college degree he spent some time town building in Idaho and then came to Maryville.

Secretary Caldwell is amply supported in his efforts to wrap city atmosphere about Maryville by J. Ross Fleetwood, county farm agent, who came to Maryville from the Missouri Agricultural college some time after his graduation.

The fact that Maryville is a town built by farmers for farmers enables these two young agriculturists to fit splendidly into the scheme of progress the welding of town and country.

There isn't much commercial fertilizer used in Nodaway County. The soil is so rich by nature that artificial fertilization is not required to any great extent. But these Maryvilleites have come to believe in the power of printers' ink, and right now the banks of the county, co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce, are planning an advertising campaign so that the proverbial bushel may no longer enshroud the light of Maryville and Nodaway County.

Love Drama of New York At the Empire

Bronx flappers, matrons and old ladies almost decided to visit the oculist not long ago when they saw nine dressed in sheets, bathrobes and towels rushing down the street with a tall, well built man, attired in pajamas and a policeman's cap, chasing them.

Just about the time the spectators decided that there had been an escape from Matteawan, someone in the crowd discovered the tall man was Milton Sills, of "Sea Hawk" fame.

As the word spread through the district ironing boards and kitchen ranges were deserted and housewives adjourned to the street, where they joined the flappers to watch Sills and his fellow players cavorting in garb as flimsy as classic dancers.

It was a scene from Sills' first starring picture, "The Making of O'Malley," to be shown here tonight and Tuesday at the Empire Theatre. This picture was produced for First National by Earl Hudson, supervisor of "The Lost World," and is a love drama of a New York cop and a rich society girl.

What
Dame Fashion
Bids You Wear!
THE SELECTION of a fall wardrobe is pure delight.
The store is filled to overflowing with exquisite gowns and wraps and smart costumes for sports and street wear. With this generous offering of all that is new and correct, it is easy to be "well-dressed."
Every conceivable shade, from the most brilliant to the palest pastel, is represented in the fall showing. Color is dominant! It runs riot in formal gowns, in sports apparel, in millinery, and in coats and wraps. Select the shade that most becomes you, and be happy in the assurance that you are in the mode.
The silhouette has taken a decidedly unique turn—it is still straight if you wish, but if you prefer a change, there is the flare, in all its grace and freedom; or pleats of all descriptions—knife pleats, box pleats, inverted pleats, and what not. The younger miss will no doubt prefer straight lines, probably diversified by some form of the pleat. Simplicity is, after all, best suited to youth.
Rich fabrics in countless numbers are offered in street and afternoon costumes, and in coats and wraps—velvets, brocades, fabrics of suede finish, novel weaves in homespuns, jerseys and worsteds. These are beautifully developed in an infinite variety of styles. They are all so lovely that one wants half a dozen. It is hard to make a choice of one or two.
Joy of joys! The truly feminine spirit can now freely indulge her love of finery and "trimmings." Heavy embroideries and braids, laces and ornaments are lavishly used this season. Furs, too, continue to be a popular means of adornment, both at the neck and sleeves, and on the hemline.
If a woman would be termed "well-dressed," she does well to carefully make a list of her fall needs, and her discrimination and good taste will direct her where to obtain each individual article.

Compares America Theaters To Those In the Old World

Eastern Papers Run Stories About the European Trip of Frank W. Buhler, Formerly of Maryville.

After a European tour lasting seven weeks, during which he visited the various centers of the theatrical and motion picture art, Frank W. Buhler, Managing Director of the Stanley Company of America, recently returned to Atlantic City where he discussed motion picture prospects for the forthcoming fall and winter season.

Mr. Buhler left America immediately following the dedication of the Stanley Theatre on the Boardwalk at Kentucky avenue. He had been in personal charge of the construction, arrangement and decoration of the new theatre and upon its completion it was virtually necessary to go abroad for the purpose of recuperation.

While in London and Paris Mr. Buhler, in company with Jules E. Mastbaum, president of the Stanley Co., of America, who crossed the ocean with him, held conference with some of the bigger European producers of theatrical events and made arrangements whereby several of the now reigning features on the Paris stage will be brought to America for appearance both here and in other cities where the Stanley Company operates its theaters.

Mr. Buhler also mapped out an elaborate season for motion picture entertainment for Atlantic City. He studied closely both the current and forthcoming productions of the larger producing companies and completed a schedule which will bring to Atlantic City the choicest products of the cinema art not only during the summer season when the visiting population is at its height but throughout the year as well.

"I made it a point," said Mr. Buhler, "to visit several of the most notable resorts in Europe and after doing so can easily realize why Atlantic City so steadfastly holds on to its title as the "world's playground." No place that we visited did we find manifest the spirit, progress and development as is found here in America's leading resorts. The people of the Old World do not seem to realize the way things are done here in America. I think it would be much to their advantage to organize official committees representing European resorts and send them here to the "Queen City of the Atlantic Seaboard," to see just how our progress is made.

"I was particularly interested in the theatres, especially those exclusively devoted to the photoplay. It was curious to compare the American temples which we have here for the projection of photoplay features with the motion picture theatres in Europe. American pictures, of course, are the dominating attractions from one end of Europe to the other but the fault seems to be in the way these pictures are produced. The photoplay shown in our theaters here is entirely different from that shown in one of the smaller theaters over there for the reason that here we surround the screen attraction with the finest possible music, which the European must surely do in order to keep pace with the time.

"I found there also that the same pictures which have immense popularity in the United States are likewise the most sought-after photoplays abroad, proving that human nature is the same whether it be on this side of the Atlantic or the other.

"While in Paris, Mr. Mastbaum held several important conferences in connection with the construction of a $7,000,000 Stanley Theater in the French capital. There also we met executives of some of the greatest American producing companies and through them virtually arranged our programs that will be shown in Atlantic City just as soon as it is feasible to bring these film productions from the studios to this resort. Our program for the fall and winter at the Stanley Theater, with a semi-weekly change in program, provides for the showing of the most exclusive of the late summer and early fall output of these studios. This policy will be maintained throughout the year.'

Mr. Buhler will be a daily visitor in Atlantic City until the middle of October, after which time he will spend several days a week here throughout the year.

Mr. Buhler formerly lived in Maryville and is a son of Mrs. Mary Buhler. The foregoing story was given publicity in the Atlantic City and other Eastern papers.

Miss Audrey Louise Carter left Saturday to resume her work in the Huron, S. Dak., schools after a summer's visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. M. Carter of Burlington Junction. Her mother accompanied her to Omaha for a several days visit. Her sister, Miss Lucile Mae Carter, left Friday for Yellowstone Park en route to Los Angeles, Cal., where she teaches. She has been visiting at the Carter home for the last six weeks.

The Rev. Henry Hepburn and son, Malcolm, of Chicago have returned home after a visit with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hepburn of Hopinks, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hartness spent the week end with friends in St. Joseph.

The Overland Six

The power plant of the New Overland Six is a superb speciment of fine engineering. Six cylinders never lived together more harmoniously, or worked together more happily. Remarkable power! The finely balanced crankshaft is ingeniosuly drilled for positive, force-feed lubrication at all speeds.

Engine, clutch and transmission are a unit—and completely enclosed for protection against mud and dirt. The clutch is an eight-disc design—specially constructed for velvety shifting of gears. In action, the engine of the new Overland Six is a dream of performance come true!

A Watch In The Class Room

In the class room the teacher will find a thousand and one needs for a wrist watch. The assignment of lessons and changing of recitations must be made at the proper time. Unless the teacher considers time the entire schedule will likely be a jumble.

A glance at the wrist watch and the teacher will know that it is time to take up the next class. Wrist watches in the class room are not only useful, they are necessity.

Remodeled Church Is Dedicated

The Barnard Christian Church, which was formally dedicated yesterday. The church building was remodeled at an approximate cost of $4,000, all of which has been raised by members of the congregation.

It is the fellowship of good men and women, such is the rock upon which Jesus built. Those who talk of the downfall of the church know nothing of the Abiding Realities of the Soul. The church was not born yesterday, it will not die tomorrow. The church exists because it is rooted in the needs of humanity. If by some great accident it were destroyed today, tomorrow it would rebuild in some form. Emerson was right when he said, "If there ever was one good man, there will be another and there will be many." That is the glory of our churches. Our Temples are only symbols of such faith.

"The church is not a luxury. It is a necessity. None of us are as good as we ought to be nor as good as we want to be but in our thoughtful moments we are frightened when we think of what we would be were it not for the church and the spirit that it gives to us.

"No man can fight the battle of life for another, no man can win alone. And that is a great glory for the church. It furnishes us fighting comrads and helps us to win the victory. 'It takes two men and God to make a brother,' said Royce. God is sure. Two men, sooner or later will meet, when that happens you have the elements that make a Glorious church.

"The church is immortal. Out of poor, imperfect humanity the church is made and glorified. Its true glory is in taking little children and setting their feet in the path way that leads to the fairy land of Paradise. It is in taking strong men and women, weakened by sin and discouragements, who have fallen by the wayside, lifting them to their feet again, giving them a sup of cold water of life, a loaf of living bread. So the glory of this church, while it is beautiful and spacious will be in the number of fires of hope it lights. It will be the number of Souls redeemed."

Harve England Is "Off" Raiding More Crap Games

Harve England, deputy sheriff, is another believer that the corn stalks grow tall and thick in Nodaway County, and is now very much averse to making raids on crap games at this time of the year, especially when they are held in corn fields.

Yesterday afternoon the sheriff received a call that there was a game of African dominoes in progress in a corn field south of Ravenwood, and on the way he picked up his deputy, Harve England. The sheriff and his deputy made plans to surround the gang that was waxing "hot." As it happened Sheriff Campbell ran onto the bunch first, and the first intimation that there was an officer in the vicinity, the participants made haste to leave the corn field without stopping to pick up the dice and other essentials.

However, Harve was laboriously making his way through the dense forest of corn stalks, and to make the matters worse he had to wade through a small lake up to his knees in water to get to the road, and the worst part of it all is that Harve missed all the fun of seeing the crap shoofers scatter.

Sheriff Campbell said this morning he had the names of those taking part in the party and that there would probably be some arrests made.

Soviet Russia Is Trying to Develop Along Lines of Electrical Progress

By FREDERICK KUH.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
(Copyright 1925 by the United Press)

Moscow, Aug. 31—(United Press)—Soviet Russia is striving to achieve "Americanization" insofar as American technique—that "precious flower of American culture"—is concerned, according to Leon Trotzky, Russian leader and chief of the concessions department of the soviet union.

In an exclusive interview with the United Press he made it clear that Russia, now striving to develop on great lines its electrical processes, would welcome this much Americanization. In fact, he declared that Russia is "striving to acquire such Americanization."

But he spurned any americanization which would mean "the domination of America's capitalist trust" or which would try to make Russia succumb to "such influences as America's yellow press."

He made it plain that Russia is looking to the outside world to aid in the tremendous electrification scheme which is being wrought in Russia, and he also held forth the prospect that concessions henceforth will not be bound in red tape nor be too restricted as to profits.

I found Trotzky slightly grayed since last year when I had last seen him, but abounding in vitality.

Suggesting the liberalization of the concession policy, Trotzky declared:

"The soviet government has now decided to exercise a more careful supervision over the practical working of concessions for the purpose of eliminating unnecessary difficulties, red tape and false restrictions."

He declared that the successful development of agriculture and state industries now assures the success of concessions enterprises.

Electrification is growing. In fact, he said, the soviet is compelled to seek much electrical equipment in foreign markets.

Super-power plants, he said, are on the verge of completion at Volhovstory, Kashira, Shatura, Balakhna, Chterovka and elsewhere while the next task will be construction of hydraulic stations along the Dnieper to be linked with the southern metallurgical industries.

"We need foreign machinery and foreign patents. We are prepared to grant foreigners concessions in the electrical enterprise providing the concessionaries are highly equipped technically. Since our economic development is advancing apace, concessionaries will have no reason to complain of low profits."

Asked as to his position on Americanization, he cited the words quoted above, concluding, however, that the "concessionaire must know beforehand that he does not come here to change our social or economic forms or socio-political methods."

Vodka Appears Again At Old Time Strength

Moscow, Aug. 31. (United Press)—Pre-war vodka has come back to Russia with its old time strength, 40 per cent alcohol.

The Soviet government over the week end authorized the state monopoly to manufacture the old time drink.

In addition cognac and other liquors may be made with the pre-war 60 per cent alcoholic content, according to the order.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goforth of Maryville and Mort Davis and Miss Edna Nicola of Hopkins spent yesterday in Maryville.

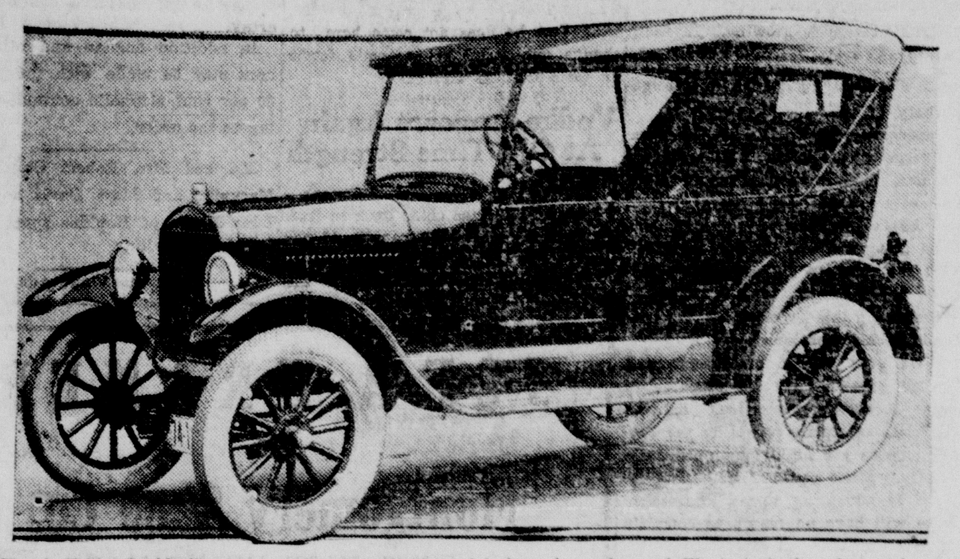
A New Ford Makes Its Debut



Here's Henry Ford's first new touring car. All his models have been changed. The body is slung lower, the seats are lower and wider, and there is more room between the front and rear seats. More of a streamline effect has been obtained by raising the radiator cover. The size of the brake drums has been increased and give greater braking power, so necessary in these days of heavy traffic. The touring car now has four doors and the roadster two. A one-piece windshield has been placed on the closed models.

According to Earl Barmann the local Ford agency will receive a shipment of the touring cars on September 12. The roadsters will be received one week later and the closed types not until October 1. The changing of machinery in the Ford plants, which was necessitated by the change in models, is causing the delay in the receiving of the models.

Federal Judge At Omaha Dons Garb of a Hod Carrier

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 31—Federal Judge J. W. Woodbrough, 52, has discarded the robes of his court temporarily and donned the overalls of the hod carrier.

The jurist is taking his vacation from the bench, working as a common laborer with a gang of Italians and negroes, constructing a new office building here.

"Yes, I've given up golf, hunting and fishing," the judge declared when found by newspapermen with a hod of mortar balanced on his shoulder and a broad smile of satisfaction wreathing his face.

"The more gentlemanly sports are all right if you like them, but I get a bigger kick out of this work than anything I ever did."

Judge Woodbrough is a skilled carpenter and can lay brick or do structural iron work but union rules barred him from everything except common labor.

"This is the best vacation I ever had" said the judge.

"The only thing I don't like about my job is that the lawyers won't let me alone. I have to stop work every few hours to sign some papers sending some bootlegger to jail. I sign them over there on the carpenter's bench.

"But there's a certain satisfaction in building things that you can't get any other way. After you've got a building up you can point it out to your friends and say 'see I helped do that.' It's different than deciding law suits."

Josef Frane Ghlebord, Austrian boss of Judge Woodbrough's gang declared the judge was worth any three men he had ever hired.

On the bench Judge Woodbrough is known as the "human jurist" because he always has time to consider everybody's side of the case. For his age he is wiry and extremely agile, in many physical respects resembling Henry Wood.

Judge Woodbrough is a lover of the outdoor life.

MONUMENTS—2

Mark every grave

The monument which wins favor, and gains the highest praise, is not necessarily the most expensive. Quite the contrary; it is beauty, not cost, which secures universal acceptance. Some simple, graceful, sincere, and beautiful design may win the approbation of the entire community and yet be of modest cost.

Since early last spring your furnace has been idle pretty much of the time. Perhaps there was left in the fire box a small amount of ashes. Perhaps this has become damp and is hurting the fire-resisting properties.

Have us tend to this matter now. It will be much better than latter on when you will be needing your furnace.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Quick changes were made in grain on the Chicago Board of Trade today. The finish was irregular.

Strength developed in wheat after mid-season. The outstanding feature of trade was liberal absorption in the face of decidedly bearish news. The forenoon dip sent prices tumbling into new low ground on the movement. A sharp rally in final hours of trading recovered all losses.

Spot corn dropped sharply under profit taking based on a freer movement.

Oats were dull and lower without feature.

Local longs sold lard freely, thus weakening the provision list.

"Babe" Ruth May Be Through With League

Famous "Home Run King" to Lay His Case Personally Before Judge Landis, High Commissioner

Chicago, Aug. 31—"Babe" Ruth may be through with organized baseball. The famous "home run king" said so himself when he came to Chicago to lay personally before Judge Landis, high commissioner of baseball, an appeal to have the fine and suspension imposed upon him by Miller Huggins Saturday at St. Louis lifted.

He is going to tell the Judge that Manager Huggins was all wrong in imposing the fine and suspending him.

Babe let it be known that he would never play ball with the New York Yankees again as long as Miller Huggins is manager. He admitted, however, that the American League Club officials hold in their hands his future as far as playing with any other American or National league club is concerned.

Grade school enrollment takes place Monday morning at 9 o'clock, Mr. Ziegler announces. All pupils who attended the Maryville Public schools last year will report to the rooms they attended the last semester of last year. Promotions will be made at the same time in all rooms. Grade pupils coming from other schools should bring grade cards or certificates. Final classification cannot be made until such credentials are submitted, Mr. Ziegler stated. Children who become 6 years of age on or before November 30, 1925, may enter school at the opening of the first term on September 7. It is important, he commented, that these children be entered at this time since a late entry in the primary grades presents a serious problem.

Graduation Requirements

Requirements for graduation from the Maryville High School are as follows:

A total of sixteen units is required for graduation and the following units required: English 4 units; Social Science 3 units; Laboratory Science 1 unit; Algebra 1 unit; Physical Education 1½ units; and Physiology and Hygiene ½ unit.

The student is permitted to choose six electives.

No credit can be received for Advanced Arithmetic unless the student has successfully completed the courses in Algebra and Plane Geometry. No credit will be given in Advanced Algebra unless the student has completed Beginning Algebra and Plane Geometry. Trigonometry is open only to students of senior rank.

Sociology and civics are open to students of junior and senior rank only. No credit is alowed in French or Latin unless the student has successfully completed two years. No student shall be enrolled in Physics unless he has completed work in Plane Geometry. No credit will be given stenography unless two units of the work are completed. No student will be permitted to take Typewriting unless Shorthand is taken at the same time. Only seniors are eligible to enroll in Commercial Law. Occupations is open only to students of sophomore rank. Community Civics and Missouri History are open only to freshmen. If vocational Home Economics or Vocational Agriculture is elected the student will not be required to take any other laboratory science.

Each student should keep accurate check on credit standing. Each pupil's curriculum should include two Majors of three units each and two Minors of two units each. The Majors are the contants of English and Social studies. The two Minors may be selected from any of the preparation studies.

No credit will be allowed in Vocational Agriculture unless one year's work of two units has been completed. No credit will be allowed in Vocation al Home Economics unless one year's work of two units has been completed Student classificatien is as follows: No student will be classified as a freshman unless he first presents a certificate of graduation from the eighth grade. No student will be classified as a sophomore until four full unit credits have been earned.

The student must have completed eight units before he will be classified as a junior. Likewise the student must have completed twelve unit credits before being classified as a senior.

Missouri School Law

Mr. Ziegler stressed the enrollment of all children of school age and quotes three sections of the Missouri school laws:

"Every parent, guardian or other person in this state having charge, control or custody of a child between the ages of 7 and 14 years shall cause such child to attend regularly some day school, public, private, parochial or parish, not less than the entire time the school which said child attends, is in session, or shall provide such child at home with such regular daily instruction during the usual hours as shall, in the judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, be substantially equivalent at least to the instruction given the children of like age at said day school in the locality in which said child resides; and every parent or person in the state having charge, control or custody of a child between the ages of 14 and 16 years, who is not actually and regularly and lawfully engaged for at least six hours each day in some useful employment or service, shall cause said child to attend regularly some day school as aforesaid:

"Provided, that a child between the ages aforesaid may be excused temporarily from complying with the provisions of this section, in whole or in part, if it be shown to the satisfaction of the attendance officer, or if he declines to excuse, to the satisfaction of a court of competent jurisdiction, that said child is mentally or physically incapacitated to attend school for the whole period required, or in any part thereof, or that said child has completed the common school course as prescribed by constituted authority, or its equivalent and has received a certificate of graduation therefrom.

"Prosecutions under this section shall be brought in the name of the state of Missouri. The circuit court shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the court having general jurisdiction over misdemeanors to try and determine exemptions.

"It shall be the duty of the state superintendent of schools, or superintendents of instruction, of boards of education in this state, of the county superintendents of schools, of the the county superintendents of public welfare, and of every school attendance and probation officer, to enforce all laws relating to compulsory school attendance."
